

Forbes

62

THE OPTIMIST REAL ESTATE MOGUL SAM ZELL AIMS AT EMERGING MARKETS

In a special real estate section we offer tips on commercial properties, REITs and mortgages. Plus: cities on the brink. A listing of all stories appears on p. 8.

BY KEREN BLANKFELD

80

LIFE AFTER FACEBOOK PETER THIEL, THE SITE'S FIRST BIG BACKER, LOOKS SKYWARD

While his hedge fund has lost billions, Thiel, a founder of PayPal, is supporting a sci-fi future of space exploration, ocean colonies and life extension.

BY BRIAN CAULFIELD AND NICOLE PERLROTH

100

HIGH FRIENDS IN LOW PLACES WHY TOTAL'S CEO WILL CUT OIL DEALS WITH DESPOTS

Christophe de Margerie believes the world will soon run short of crude. So strongmen and dictators are all on his call list. "Bloody right!" he exclaims.

BY CHRISTOPHER HELMAN

13 | FACT & COMMENT // Steve Forbes

16 | CURRENT EVENTS // Paul Johnson

FOCUS

18 | WHAT'S UP, MIKE?

Mayor Michael Bloomberg's financial data company is aiming more at consumers. Could this be a political vehicle?

BY JEFF BERCOVICI

20 | HE'S BACK

A Harvey Weinstein sequel: His indie movie studio is flourishing.

BY DOROTHY POMERANTZ

22 | BEST. PRIVATE EQUITY DEAL. EVER (MAYBE).

Ross Bhappu is the U.S. king of rare earth minerals—on paper at least.

BY NATHAN VARDI

24 | THE LEHMAN OF LIVESTOCK

Tommy Gibson and the $2.5 billion in cattle that allegedly went missing.

BY EMILY LAMBERT

ZELL: JONATHAN FICKES/BLOOMBERG

COVER PHOTOGRAPH BY ERIC MILLETTE FOR FORBES

26 | THE $1,000 GENOME

Is an inexpensive way to scan your genes really coming?

BY MATTHEW HERPER

28 | RISK: UNDER ARMOUR'S ABOUT-FACE

Kevin Plank built an empire trash-talking cotton T-shirts. Now he's selling them. Huh?

BY MONTE BURKE

32 | INNOVATION RULES // Rich Karlgaard

TECHNOLOGY

34 | FREE SOFTWARE FOR SUITS

Newcomers like Aaron Levie are changing the business of business apps.

BY VICTORIA BARRET

38 | ANONYMOUS SPEAKS

What's to stop this loose-knit hacker group from turning sinister quickly?

BY PARMY OLSON

40 | THE TECH TRADE // Eric Savitz

Time to step down, Steve

42 | DATA DRIVEN: ANTIBIOTIC ARTISAN

Chemist William DeGrado crafts new drugs that mimic nature's own defenses.

BY ROBERT LANGRETH

INVESTING

46 | MARRIED, WITH ASSETS

The new estate law allows couples to do without trusts—if they trust each other.

BY DEBORAH L. JACOBS

48 | PORTFOLIO STRATEGY // Ken Fisher

How my stock picks fared in 2010.

50 | CAPITAL MARKETS // Marilyn Cohen

Be prepared for a long winter in bonds.

LIFE

52 | BEYOND DIAMONDS

How to do it right for Valentine's Day.

BY ANN ABEL

ENTREPRENEURS

56 | HE FEELS YOUR PAIN

Kelly Conway's software knows if you're angry when you call a help line.

BY CHRISTOPHER STEINER

58 | NEW VISION FOR NONPROFITS

Jordan Kassalow wants to bring reading glasses to the developing world.

BY HELEN COSTER

60 | ASK AN EXPERT

When to fire the talent.

BY BEN HOROWITZ

REAL ESTATE

65 | LEARNING TO LOVE YOUR HOME LOAN

Turn it into a valuable asset.

BY STEPHANE FITCH

68 | ADVANTAGE LITTLE GUY

Making the most of online tools to buy real estate.

BY STEPHANE FITCH

69 | MONITORING YOUR MORTGAGE BROKER

How to check out home loan salesmen.

BY MORGAN BRENNAN

70 | THE FORECLOSURE FALLACY

Financially troubled homes are no great bargain these days.

BY WILLIAM P. BARRETT

72 | BUYING BUILDINGS FOR CASH

There's good money to be made in commercial real estate.

BY WILLIAM BALDWIN

74 | REIT REPORT CARD

We grade the largest commercial property trusts.

BY KURT BADENHAUSEN

75 | REAL ESTATE // Peter Slatin

Stay with blue-chip REITs in 2011.

76 | CAPITAL CRUNCH

Harrisburg, Pa. and the bleak future facing some of America's largest cities.

BY DANIEL FISHER

78 | CITIES ON THE BRINK

Are you sure you want to live here?

BY DANIEL FISHER

SPORTSMONEY

92 | BUZZER BEATER

Orlando Magic owner Rich DeVos got himself a $380 million arena.

Will profits follow?

BY DAVID WHELAN

94 | THE MAGIC'S MONEY MACHINE

A peek inside Orlando's Amway Center.

BY DAVID WHELAN

96 | THE YEAR OF LEBRON

Which NBA team racked up the biggest jump in value? The least?

Hint: Think LeBron James.

BY KURT BADENHAUSEN, MICHAEL K. OZANIAN AND CHRISTINA SETTINI

112 | THOUGHTS

On the Business of Life
